Horrible Histories? Rotten Romans? Cut-throat Celts? Vicious Vikings? Heard of these?

On Friday November the 9th we will become the 'Eager Edgar-Sewterians' as we will be hosting an exciting Roman History Day with the team from 'Portals to the Past', a historical group who run exciting, immersive and inspiring history workshops for schools (and some of whom have starred in the Horrible History episodes).

These time travellers will share their depth of knowledge that goes beyond any text book page, and extends to clothing, artefacts, weapons, language and even the way that they act. In addition, the team will bring along genuine historical artefacts to share with the children.

We are keeping costs low, with no transport nor entrance fees needed and by teaming up with Wenhaston Primary we ask for just £4.75 for an expected fun-filled day.

Children are also invited to dress up for the day and we have been sent examples of how easy this can be – details and examples for making cheaply your own costume, improvising with what you already have will be added to the year 3/4 area of the website.

Please complete the following form, giving permission for photos to be taken during the day, and return money to the school office by Friday 2nd November,

Many thanks

Miss Reeve and the Year 3/4 team
